34. Budget boost to health care 'is what Albertans want', Many of the fears that health care workers had, have certainly been alleviated or addressed by this budget," said Dr. Chip Doig, president of the AMA. February 10, 2010, Calgary Herald.
35. The provocateur's prescription. Current Alberta Medical Association president Chip Doig is diplomatic when asked about Duckett, saying it would be "a little bit unfair" to grade Duckett's performance so early. Doig is hopeful that cuts won't hurt either doctors or patients. "We have every expectation from what's been communicated to us... that cost savings will primarily be achieved through not a reduction in health services, but in other efficiencies." 39. Health minister accepts failing grade. Liepert received some support from Dr. Chip Doig, president of the Alberta Medical Association. The association is critical of some recent government decisions, but Doig said Liepert isn't always to blame. "This is a fairly critical poll on the performance of the minister," Doig said. "Perhaps it's unfair just to say it about the minister. He's bearing a burden of a broader responsibility and accountability." October 9, 2009 CBC News
40. NDP will consult Albertans on health care. New Alberta Medical Association president Dr. Chip Doig says the provincial government needs to do a much better job of consulting with doctors about the coming changes. "We're simply saying that all of us have something to bring to the table and we're willing and happy to be partners," he said. "That's not to say we'll always agree." He is also encouraging his members to raise concerns about proposed changes that may harm patients. September 29, 2009 Edmonton Journal.
41. Bed closures will save $50M, says Alberta superboard. Dr. Chip Doig, president-elect of the Alberta Medical Association, said he wished Alberta Health Services consulted with doctors and medical experts before coming up with the plan. He doesn't know if the extra community spaces will free up enough hospital beds to relieve the crunch in emergencies and offset bed closures.
42. "In my practical experience, that math doesn't hold," Doig said, especially when Alberta's two biggest cities provide specialized health care to people across the province. "Closing beds in Calgary and Edmonton may have a significant impact in all the zones across the province." September 17, 2009 Edmonton Journal

1. Consultation service

Board member healthydebate.ca; Healthy debate is a forum for discussion with and a source of information for health providers and health policy makers. The site includes discussion on emerging issues, but also includes the opportunities for opinion pieces to stimulate discussion, and 'Faces' of health care to bring the stories alive of patients and providers alike.

2. Citizen engagement

The Calgary zone Department of Critical Care Medicine includes a Patient and Family centred care committee. The PFCC provides input on policies and procedures related to the provision of critical care in all adult multi system ICU's. The PFCC is made up of former patients, and family members of former patients. Patient/family representation is included in most of the departmental committees related to the provision of care and assessment of quality of care (standards) in the Calgary zone.

3. Community engagement

In collaboration with other investigators, the Department of Critical Care Medicine, and the Alberta Critical Care Strategic Clinical Network has held community engagement activities (Cafe Scientifique) to obtain broader feedback on critical care activities, and to seek feedback on proposed research and quality improvement activities. The Department of Critical Care Medicine has sponsored public education forums during World Sepsis Day. The Department, as part of the Snyder Institute for Chronic Diseases, plays a role in the 'Mini-Med School' which are a series of evening lectures on topics including related to sepsis and infection.

4. Research uptake strategies

The department of critical care has recently hired an implementation scientist to assist in KT activities (implementation and de-implementation) of clinical treatments and interventions. The department works closely with the Alberta Critical Care Strategic Clinical Network to evaluate and implement province wide guidelines/policies/protocols with respect to critical care management of adult patients.
